THE UNION MISSION

To the Kind Friends of the Mission. Greeting. It has been some time since you have heard from us. We suppose you are wondering what has become of the Union Mission. Well, we are real glad to report that we are all still alive. We came through the awful disaster with hardly a scratch to any of the workers, of which we are very thankful to our God for his protection. But we truly sympathize with our neighbors in their many afflictions and bereavements. Our mission hall was slightly damaged, to a degree that we could not hold further services in it and we have been still at work in the very best way possible, holding cottage services over the city. We have lately secured another hall to hold public services in, known as the Red Store, located just at the railroad crossing south of the oil mill and east of the stock yards on the Santa Fe railroad. We have our regular services as before. We are having good, splendid crowds, and extra good meetings. The Lord is blessing the people, and we are well pleased with our location. We are very grateful to the friends of our work for their past favors and liberal donations but just here we feel more the need of financial help now than in the past, this being the only work of a mission nature in the city, where the poor and the friendless may go and feel at home, while they enjoy a feast of heavenly dainties, and we feel good for them when we see them catch inspiration and get new hopes of eternal glories, and feel glad that they are living. This is a hard, persecuted work, but we are glad to follow in the footsteps of our Saviour, and that without salary, but at a great sacrifice, that we might gladden hearts and help them to a better life.

Inviting all to our services each Thursday, Saturday and Sunday night. Sunday school each Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

Respectfully,
THE UNION MISSION.

The Inactive Woman.

Women the world over have a baneful habit of leading inactive lives. They persuade themselves that they get plenty of exercise while doing housework, and then when they go to bed at night they cannot sleep. Just for a change, try a little exercise out of doors after the afternoon sun has gone down and the air is cool. Fill your lungs with all the fresh air they will hold, taking deep breathing exercises as you walk along, then go home and see if you do not sleep better than you did the night before when you had not taken any fresh air into your starved lungs.

TRY IT! SUBSTITUTE FOR NASTY CALOMEL

Starts Your Liver Without Making You Sick and Can Not Salivate.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling-off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tonic is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tonic is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tonic is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50 cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine, no biliousness, sick head, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tonic instead, and feel fine, full of vigor to children, they like it, or and ambition.

CONGRESSMAN WM. H. MURRAY OPPOSES ARMY

PREPAREDNESS IS ALL RIGHT, BUT THERE'S NOTHING TO WATCHFUL WAITING—FAVORS NAVY INCREASE.

Denison, Tex., Nov. 1.—"Preparedness is all right, but there is nothing to this watchful waiting business," declared William H. Murray, of Thompson, who is visiting in Denison today. Mr. Murray, who was born in Collinsville, is well known to many Denisonians as "Alfalfa Bill." Mr. Murray is quite prominent in public affairs, having been a member of the Oklahoma constitutional convention and now a member of congress.

"I believe in increasing the navy to such strength as to insure us against any attacks from foreign nations," continued Mr. Murray, "but so far as army is concerned, it need not be greatly increased, for we have no use for it. In the first place, unless soldiers are disarmed it makes a political danger, and in the second place, we have an example of the army right now in the matter of Mexico. If an army is for anything, it is to establish peace, but peace along our own border and in Mexico will never be established until the United States sends an army of 250,000 men down there and establishes a military government by garrisoning all of the large cities. We should then establish about a half million schools with Americans in charge of them, make education compulsory, and if after that any outlaws or bandits were left, they should be lined up and shot.

"However, I am a believer in military training. The Swiss system is the best, I believe. It consists of having every male person given instructions in military training, thus teaching all of them the value of discipline. The fact that a man knows how to obey orders is a good investment, even though we should never have any war. War, you know, Quintillian once said that a man could not be a good orator unless he was a good general—and being a good general a man must be able to take orders. There never was a truer statement than the one he who cannot obey cannot command! The trouble today, is that Americans do not co-operate as they should, and this is because few of them know the meaning of discipline. They are too apt to mistake their liberty for license to do as they please, regardless of any discipline.

"We should by all means have a merchant marine, and I would do anything in the world to get it. We have one now, it is true, but just as soon as this European war is over, a lot of those foreign-built ships registered here, will desert us. It is my idea that the naval end of the defense plans is the one upon which we should lay the greatest stress, as it is from that source that we shall have to rely to the greatest extent for protection in case of any invasion.

"What do the people up here think of Sam Rayburn?" Mr. Murray asked his interviewers, upon finishing his talk concerning national preparedness.

"He's good-bug with them all," was the reply.

"Well, sir," was the response. "I am glad to hear it for Sam Rayburn is a mighty fine man, and a man with a lot of good sense and judgment. The people show good taste in supporting him."

Real Life.

In Russia, because the peasants have no books to read, they are all forced to read the book of nature. They do not hear the imitation of the nightingale, therefore they listen to the nightingale itself. They do not look at "real life," as depicted in novels, therefore they look at real life without the novels.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP ELECTION

DETROIT, MICHIGAN, IS TODAY VOTING ON THE MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP PLAN FOR OPERATION OF STREET RAILWAY.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 2.—This city, if the municipal ownership plan being voted on today carries, will be the first city in the United States to own and operate its entire street railway system. For many years Detroit has resounded with arguments for and against the plan. Chicago and Cleveland adopted settlement ordinances which eliminated, for the time being at least, municipal ownership. In San Francisco and Seattle only a comparatively small proportion of the mileage is owned and operated by the people.

To carry the plan must receive a sixty per cent affirmative vote.

For years all efforts of the local traction company to obtain new franchise grants have failed. As a result, while the population has increased with great rapidity, street car service has not kept pace, and the referendum, therefore, is said to have aroused the personal interest of most of the voters. The lines have been operating for the most part on a day-to-day agreement, with tickets selling seven for a quarter at all times except during the two rush periods, when eight for a quarter tickets must be honored. Only on a few miles of track on the old-Pingree three-cent fare lines are the eight-for-a-quarter tickets good at all hours.

If municipalization carries, the traction system will be managed by three commissioners serving without pay. They will be James Couzens, until recently vice-president of the Ford Motor company; John F. Dodge, of the Dodge Motor Car company; and James Wilkie, of the Parke-Davis Chemical company.

Criticism of the plan includes opinion that it will make a political football out of the lines. To this answer is made that the commission will have complete power, that the mayor is pledged to retain in office the commissioners named, and that the commissioners have agreed to stay in office. Labor organizations have objected on two grounds, namely, that the plan will invalidate the arbitration agreement between the company and the union, and that the civil service provision of the plan will weaken, if it does not disrupt, the union.

That the voters do not know precisely what the lines will cost is another objection raised. An appraisal of the lines by Prof. E. W. Howe gave the value of the property as $17,000,000. At one time the company declined a municipal offer of $25,250,000 for the lines. According to the present plan the valuation will be fixed by the circuit court of Wayne county (Detroit). The plan provides that a rate of fare sufficient to meet all obligations shall be charged, and it has been argued in some quarters that this might result in a higher rate.

A PINE WHOOPING COUGH REMEDY.

Morlers, Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is just the remedy for your children's cold ailments. The fact is that pine is a quick enemy of cold conditions. Its qualities loosen the mucus in the throat, soothe the lungs and open up the air passages. The combination of honey, soothing and pleasant, with the loosening pine quality makes this an ideal cough remedy for children. Each passing year brings for it new friends. A family of growing children cannot afford to be without it. 25c a bottle.

Stop Before You Are Too Tired.

In the Woman's Home Companion Marguerite Tuttle writes a fiction story entitled "The Runaway Rest Cure," in which a physician gives a patient the following good advice:

"It is not the brain, nor the character that suffers first from overwork, but the body; and it is not until after the body has rendered up its excess vitality—its youthfulness—that the nerves begin to pay toll. You are not yet at that place; you are simply physically tired. But this time be dangerous, because it is the warning that the limit of your physical support is nearly reached. We are coming to learn the value of fatigue as a warning. Those who do the best work stop just before they are tired."

Beware of Cheap Substitutes

In these days of keen competition it is important that the public should see that they get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and not take substitutes sold for the sake of extra profit. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has stood the test and been approved for more than forty years. Obtainable everywhere.

A Toast to the Horse

We don't know who wrote this toast to the horse, but it is a good one and worthy of being placed beside Senator Vest's famous eulogy on the dog:

"Here's to that bundle of sentient nerves, with the heart of a woman, the eye of a gazelle, the courage of a gladiator, the docility of a slave, the proud carriage of a king and the blind obedience of a soldier; the companion of the desert plain, that turns the moist furrows in the spring in order that all the world may have abundant harvest; that furnishes the sport of kings, that with blazing eye and distended nostril fearlessly leads our greatest generals through carnage and renown, whose blood forms one of the ingredients that go to make the ink in which all history is written and who finally, in black trappings, pulls the proudest and the humblest of us to the newly sowed threshold of eternity."
